

Formerly Innovise ESM

LONDON, UK – February 10, 2016 08:00 ET

Innovise ESM and CliQr Announce a New Partnership that Enables Customers to Take Full Control of the Cloud with ServiceNow

Innovise ESM, a leader in Enterprise Service Management, announces a new partnership with CliQr, the leading cloud management platform provider, to bring the power of the CliQr CloudCenter platform to the Enterprise Service Management space, building on and integrating with ServiceNow capabilities.

With its out-of-the-box integration with ServiceNow, CliQr enables the full lifecycle management and self service on-demand deployment of application stacks and their underlying infrastructures to a wide range of public cloud providers such as AWS, Azure, Google, IBM SoftLayer, Rackspace, as well as private and hybrid cloud providers including VMware, Cisco, OpenStack, CloudStack and HPE Helion. CliQr provides powerful usage and cost controls with side-by-side benchmark cost and performance comparisons.

“With CliQr, Innovise ESM will now offer customers the ability to extend the types of on demand services IT delivers, including self-service access to application deployments,” said Mat Middleton, CEO of Innovise ESM. “CliQr’s powerful governance features help IT organizations offer speed and flexibility to users, while also taking control of shadow IT to reduce risk and cost. Having deployed both ServiceNow and CliQr into a number of customers we are excited to be able to offer the combined solution to old and new customers who want to automate application deployment.”

Gaurav Manglik, CEO and co-founder of CliQr added, “We are pleased to be working with Innovise ESM, whose breadth of expertise make the perfect channel and go-to-market partner for CliQr.”

CliQr also extends and cloud-activates a wide range of service management, operations management, and business management processes and these extended capabilities are a powerful addition to Innovise ESM Enterprise Service Management offerings.

Further information: www.engage-esm.com/solutions/hybrid

About CliQr

CliQr is a leading provider of application-defined cloud management solutions. Offering full lifecycle management delivered in a single, intuitive packaged platform, CliQr enables businesses to easily and efficiently model, deploy and manage one to many applications, users, and clouds. Headquartered in San Jose, California, with locations in Canada, India and Czech Republic, CliQr is backed by Polaris Partners, Foundation Capital, Google Ventures and TransLink Capital. Further information: www.cliqr.com.

About Innovise ESM

Innovise ESM works with IT organizations to improve their ability to innovate and respond to the changing needs of the business. Whether the challenge is reducing costs, corporate governance, taking on new services or consolidating infrastructures, Innovise ESM provides the impartial advice, expert skills and the service management technology to enable IT organizations to manage continuous change. Key partners include ServiceNow, Cisco, Moogsoft and CliQr. Further information: www.engage-esm.com

Media:

Sharon Holland, sharon.holland@innovise-esm.com